

Skagit Valley College Foundation
Annual Report 2014

Dr. Thomas A. Keegan
SVC President

Each year, Skagit Valley College recognizes student achievement at a variety of celebrations and events held throughout Skagit, Island, and San Juan counties. With each student's handshake, we know they have accomplished an important educational goal and have taken the next step toward a better future.

Many of our students have reached their goal because of the leadership, support, and the generosity you have extended through the SVC Foundation since it was founded in 1978. Your gifts — whether they create scholarship opportunities, provide instructional enhancements, or support new technologies — help us transform lives and strengthen our community.

As we plan for the future, Skagit Valley College is aligning its programs with regional and state economic development strategies to advance Washington's economy through education. This year, the Foundation Board of Governors has actively engaged with the College to align its fundraising with the College's strategic plan. Together, our engagement will serve as a benefit to students.

On behalf of the faculty, staff, administration, and Board of Trustees, thank you for making your commitment to SVC and the community. Our success reflects our dedication to student achievement and our relationship with each of you.

Sincerely,

Celebrating Joan Martin's Spirit—The Light Still Shines

Joan Martin

The late Joan Martin was a remarkable woman! She moved to the Skagit Valley with her husband Rob in 1973 and soon went to work as the first executive director for the Skagit Preschool and Resource Center (SPARC), an early childhood education intervention program. Although she had a physical disability that required the use of an electric wheelchair, there was very little that stopped her.

She balanced her role as wife and devoted mother to her two sons with her professional and community commitments. She worked tirelessly with other advocates to create strong, professionally-driven and family-centered services for children.

Following her death in 2013, her family and former colleagues contributed to the creation of an endowed scholarship in Joan's name. The Joan Nourse Martin Early Childhood Education Scholarship will provide financial assistance to early childhood education students who share Joan's devotion to children and families in our region. Nancy Beals, former SVC instructor and a grateful parent of special needs son, Drew (whom Joan taught at SPARC) continues to solicit financial gifts for the fund. Her work—and community generosity—will ensure that that the light of Joan Martin's legacy will continue to shine brightly, impacting many more students in the years to come.

Joan set very high standards for herself and those around her. As Nancy Beals commented, "Her attitude was that if a child was in need, it was her responsibility to see that the need was met and then it was her job to figure out the finances." It is fitting that this spring Skagit Valley College Foundation was able to award the first Joan Nourse Martin scholarship to Georgina Aguilar, a high-achieving SVC Early Childhood Education student who will continue her studies at WWU.

Endowed scholarships through SVC Foundation are invested in to serve students according to the intent of the donor. Scholarship support is paid from earnings, with the remainder dedicated to growing the endowment to meet future needs.

If you are interested in donating to the Joan Nourse Martin Early Childhood Education Endowed Scholarship, or other scholarships, please visit www.skagit.edu/foundation and click "Click to Give" or call (360) 416-7717 for assistance.

3 Ways to “Pay Forward” Your Support for Future Leaders

1. Make a contribution directly to support scholarships and programs through Skagit Valley College Foundation. Change lives through the act of giving.

2. Invest in an existing endowment (list on page 6) or start a new one in the name of your family. Endowments last forever and their earnings help students and programs every year.

3. Place SVC Foundation in your estate plan. Talk to us about how to leave a lasting legacy through a planned gift that works for you and your loved ones.

SVC Foundation celebrates the growing number of Foundation supporters who plan to establish scholarships through their estates or other planned giving options.

Estate gifts make a tremendous impact on the lives of students. Legacy gifts that create endowments at the Foundation provide perpetual support for Skagit Valley College students and educational programs.

As Sarah Deierlein, SVC Foundation Legacy Society member shares, "I believe that no qualified, deserving student should suffer for lack of scholarships. I've decided to join the Skagit Valley College Foundation Legacy Society and have committed a percent of my estate to the Jack and Micki Deierlein Scholarship Fund at SVC Foundation, established long ago by my mother. My decision to join the Legacy Society is a joy and an honor that makes my heart light as I imagine helping SVC students into the future."

You retain control of your assets during your lifetime, and, by working with Foundation staff now, your scholarship can be ready to be initiated when funds are received. Estate plans also may increase your options in determining the way your assets are distributed between your family, your charitable commitments, and the IRS. Your professional tax or legal advisor should be consulted.

As a Legacy Society member, you may choose to remain anonymous. By planning ahead, you are assured that your wishes will be honored and that your legacy will support students long into the future. For more information on how you can create your own lasting story, please contact: 360.416.7717.
